Costa Blanca South, Ciudad Quesada

This extremely well presented townhouse is located in the popular residence of Bravo Hills in Quesada. The elevated position offers the most beautiful views over the area towards the distant salt lakes. This corner townhouse has a front terrace overlooking the communal gardens. The front door opens into a hall with on the right hand side the fully equipped kitchen and on the left a cloakroom. The hall opens up into the spacious lounge with patio door opening onto the back terrace. From here there are breath taking views to enjoy over Quesada. From the terrace there are steps down into the lower terrace. From here there is a small gate with access into the communal gardens. There is a Storage room on this level. From the lounge there are steps up onto the second level with 2 bedrooms and a bathroom. From one bedroom there is a small covered indoor terrace which is currently used as an office space. The main bedroom has patio doors onto the next outdoor terrace which has the same views again over Quesada and from here there are steps onto the top level where a private solarium offers the best views over both the communal gardens on one side and the Quesada area and the salt lakes on the other side. There is a large communal pool with a smaller children's pool. The communal gardens are well kept and there are parking areas in the secured gated community for the residents. Extra's include: air conditioning, water filter, storage room, 3 terraces, 1 enclosed balcony, electric shutters in the lounge. We fully recommend a viewing to this beautiful traditional Spanish style property which offers the best views of Quesada.
