The surroundings

Pilar de la Horadada, located in the south of Alicante near the Murcia border, is a charming coastal town that blends authentic Spanish character with Mediterranean vibrancy. With its welcoming atmosphere, picturesque squares, weekly local markets and excellent gastronomy, it is an ideal place for both permanent living and refined holidays.

Nearby is Lo Romero Golf, an 18-hole championship course renowned for its iconic island green on the 18th hole. The course offers a unique combination of nature, serenity and sporting challenge, suitable for golfers of all levels.

Beautiful beaches such as Mil Palmeras, Torre de la Horadada and Las Higuericas are just a short drive away. The surrounding countryside also offers scenic walking and cycling routes through citrus groves and along historic paths. Thanks to the mild climate, outdoor living can be enjoyed all year round.

This region offers an exceptional lifestyle where luxury, nature, sport and authentic Spanish charm come together in perfect harmony.
